Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 24,26, and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Applicants do not provide an enabling disclosure for preparations by the dry blending operations wherein no binder is utilized.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1,2, 4, 7-23, 26, and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Harrison et al.(5,260,343).

Harrison et al. discloses preparations of polyurethane foams from isocyanates as defined by applicants' claims, polyols as defined by applicants' claims, in the presence of water, as an economical, easy to use co-blowing agent, and thermally expandable microspheres, wherein the foams are prepared by methods encompassing of applicants' claims, and the products obtained have densities and other properties encompassing of applicants' claims (see the entire document).

Applicants' arguments have been considered. However, rejection is maintained for the reasons set forth above. The teachings of Harrison et al. must be taken in their totality. Harrison et al. disclose numerous species, which will provide for thermoplastic product realization, and the teachings of the examples do not negate the totality of the teachings of the reference.

Claims 26 and 27 have been added to this rejection because these claims, without the binder, or further definition of the pellets, do not distinguish over the disclosure of Harrison et al.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3,5, and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Harrison et al.

Harrison et al. cited for the reasons set forth in the rejection under 35 USC 102 set forth above. Harrison et al. differs in that it is not concerned with additional blowing agents beyond the expandable microspheres and the economical and easy to use co-blowing agent, water. However, Harrison et al.'s disclosure is replete with teaching encompassing of the knowledge to use additional additives within their procedures, and examiner holds that the endothermic blowing agents of applicants' claims are well known blowing agents in the art for the purpose of imparting their additive effect. Accordingly, it would have been obvious for one having ordinary skill in the art to have utilized acceptable and less economically feasible blowing alternatives within the procedures of Harrison et al. in order to arrive at the processes and products of applicants' claims with the expectation of success in the absence of a showing of new or unexpected results.

No arguments have been made in regards to this rejection. Accordingly, the rejection is maintained as stated above.

Objections

Claims 25 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim 29 is objected to as depending from itself and must be corrected.

Art Unit: 1711

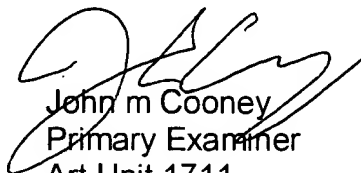

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
